HOW TECHNOLOGY HAS CHANGED OUR LIVES

Technology has changed our lives by increasing the speed of time. We were human. We invented and developed the technologies to change our life to its best. Now that technology is changing our lives every second.

Robots are our new human model and at the end, only robots control this world. Technology is now trying to go inside our body it's almost there and the target is human blood and emotions. So, far! Technology is successful in that.

In business, the use of Artificial Intelligence, cloud computing, machine learning, predictive analytics and business intelligence tools, applications now creating new methods to conduct, operate and manage the business.

The rise of cloud computing, cloud storage, Artificial intelligence and Machine learning is the example, that we will be soon on the node that connects our body and capture the data of human activities in real time. Invention and development of Technology have changed our life positively and negatively. The new technologies and inventions are results of our curiosity, creativity, and problem-solving techniques.

What else we will do on this earth if we're not improving our self every day. But it's important that technological development should be environmental and human-friendly. Technology is a flower for life, not a productivity killer. We're looking like a robotic human and it's the biggest example of how technology has changed our lives positively and negatively.

Technology is in the air, water, food, education, business, office, electricity, marketing, data storage, communication, cars, parking, traveling, foods, shopping, and banks etc. It's almost everywhere and in everything that is involved in our daily life. Technology is the king and human is a slave. But if a slave is clever, knowledgeable enough then they can manipulate the king (technologies).

Do you know when you get up in the morning what you think? For example: How to market products, how to earn more money, how to live the life you want to live, how to achieve your goals and dreams and how to make this world better. These are things in which technologies help us.

And for you, there are thousands of businesses and people ready to help you on the internet. You have to search and get. They are selling you change product on the internet and everywhere. Almost all the companies talk about change in their advertisement. They use technologies to target you.
